

IRONWORKS HOLIDAY GIFT GUIDE

YES, IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR AGAIN

What the heck can I buy for the biker on my list?

By Marilyn G. Simmons,
Marketing Director,
Mustang Motorcycle Products

It's that time of the year again—festivities, family get-togethers and the giving of gifts. Oh no! The dreaded gift list. Every year it's the same old thing—ties or books, slippers or sweaters, or—when all else fails—the ubiquitous gift card.

Need some better ideas? It's easy to find the perfect gift for everyone on your list—well, as long as that list includes anyone who rides, anyone who has ever ridden, or anyone who just dreams of riding someday.

This year, think outside of the standard gift box of T-shirts, hats, and posters. Yes, Virginia, there is world full of thousands of gifts for motorcycle enthusiasts, regardless of whether they've been naughty or nice.

Ever meet a biker who doesn't take pride in his or her ride? Wrap up some luggage or saddlebags. Help them keep their motorcycle clean with a bike detailing kit or choose from a wide selection of ever-popular Gremlin bells.

Whether you're sitting in a cubicle all day, driving a truck, or waiting tables, there's a little biker in us all and we want the world to know it. For ladies from 6 to 96, Biker Betty watches, purses, and jewelry are all the rage; for those with long locks, check out the ponytail wraps, tubes, or rings. If the guys on your list have been partying a little too much, they probably could use a slightly large leather vest or maybe a cool vest extender chain from the many available. They look good, too.

And don't forget that many of your biker friends have little bikers at home who need bibs, rompers, teddy bears and puzzles.

When you can't be riding, there's no place like home—and what better place to show off your love of riding to friends? Every home needs coasters, bottle openers, or a strong biker guy to hold on to their favorite bottle of cheer. Neighbors will be green with envy to see motorcycles mailboxes, birdhouses, or whimsical weathervanes. And no matter what you're riding, who could resist a motorcycle designed toilet paper dispenser?

No, you don't have to be a wild one to let your gift-giving imagination run wild. From clocks to coat racks, wind chimes to welcome mats, give the bikers on your list a gift that represents the lifestyle they love. They'll love you for it.

So take a few minutes to peruse the selection on the next few pages. And if you're smart, you'll mark a few things you might want yourself, in case Santa's elves are on the lookout. IW

*RESOURCES

www.BikerEssentials.com
www.CruiserCustomizing.com
www.HotLeathers.com
www.JPCycles.com
www.DennisKirk.com
www.MustangSeats.com

